

LET'S TALK ABOUT IT:

Muslim Journeys

Pathways of Faith

A reading and discussion series in America's libraries

Events are FREE!
But registration is requested.

Learn more about the faith of Muslims in the United States and throughout the world through a five-part book discussion series in 2014 called "Let's Talk About It: Muslim Journeys".

All are invited to participate. Participants are encouraged to prepare for and attend all 5 discussions. Registration is requested by Dec. 15; rsvp to Deborah Margolis at deborahm@msu.edu or 517-884-0892. More information is available at <http://libguides.lib.msu.edu/muslimjourneys>

Book discussions led by Associate Professor Mohammad Khalil, 2013 recipient of the Fintz Award for Teaching Excellence in the Arts and Humanities.

The 5 book discussions will take place in the MSU Main Library, North Conference Room (4th floor West). Free parking for visitors is available after 6pm in Lot 62E (employee lot north of Spartan Stadium and south of Main Library). There is no charge for participation and light refreshments will be served.
